
SULSA News – 9 March 2011

Follow us on Twitter: @SULSATweets

Join us on LinkedIn: <http://www.linkedin.com/groups/SULSA-Scottish-Universities-Life-Sciences-3705496>

@SULSATweets

- Chemistry Catalyst Fund – deadline for applications 1 April 2011 <http://bit.ly/dVLFtC>
- SULSA Supports SynBio Student Symposium <http://bit.ly/gW2NOW>
- SULSA Prof Rainer Breitling explains plug-and-play synthetic biology for drug discovery in Nature Reviews Microbiology <http://bit.ly/gsmZZZ>
- SULSA Lecturer Ekkehard Ullner publishes on Red Grouse population modelling in Chaos <http://bit.ly/hLEtyO>
- SULSA Reader Oliver Ebenhoeh publishes in Biosystems a model of nonphotochemical quenching of chlorophyll fluorescence. <http://bit.ly/gFouRv>

SULSA News

- SULSA appoints Timothy Newman at the University of Dundee as Professor of Biophysics & SULSA Research Professor of Systems Biology. Find out about his research here: <http://bit.ly/fWYqT>
- SULSA Professor Timothy Newman takes over as Editor-in-Chief of Physical Biology journal <http://bit.ly/gQGQ7L>
- SULSA works with Bitesize Bio to promote a programme of 30-minute live online seminars packed full of the information to help succeed in experiments, career and life as a biologist. <http://bit.ly/dOe8IA>
- SULSA Professor Timothy Newman publishes paper “Life and death in biophysics”. <http://bit.ly/dTt0Uj>

SULSA Events

- 15 March – University of Glasgow – SULSA Facility Roadshow <http://bit.ly/iiC8aC>
- 6&7 April – Edinburgh – SULSA & SUPA Young Scientists Meeting
- 7 June – University of Glasgow – annual SULSA Symposium <http://bit.ly/gyNtgs>

Other events of interest

- 22 March – University of Glasgow – Nexus Scotland “Commercialisation Strategies for Molecular Diagnostics” <http://bit.ly/hbWMZU>
- 4 April – University of Glasgow – SynBio Student Symposium <http://bit.ly/gW2NOW>